

Dulles Talks With Allied Diplomats On Formosa Crisis

U. S. Will Not Yield to Force, He Declares

BY TOM HOGE
United Nations, N.Y. — Secretary of State Dulles conferred with top western diplomats today after serving notice that the United States will "make no retreat in the face of force" on Formosa. Dulles was expected to see French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville today. Informants said he also planned to sandwich in meetings with other U.N. delegates. In a speech before the Far East - American Council of Commerce and Industry in New York last night, Dulles ranged over the whole Formosa crisis. The secretary charged that red China — aided by Soviet arms, supplies, and moral support — is "threatening war against us in the Formosa area."

Welcomes Talks
 "The United States is not prepared to retreat in the face of armed force," Dulles declared, but he added, "our position is otherwise flexible." Dulles said the United States welcomed Peiping's willingness to resume the U. S.-red Chinese talks and was prepared, "in accord with our United Nations charter obligation, to settle the dispute by peaceful means."

"We believe that the Soviet Union, if it wanted to see a peaceful solution could make that possible," Dulles added. The secretary spoke amid indications that the gloom in to which the Formosa crisis had plunged Washington was lifting slightly.

Spirits were bolstered by a Pentagon estimate that nationalist China is strong enough to hurl back any red Chinese invasion attempt against Quemoy without U.S. armed help.

The optimism was based in part on nationalist claims that the red blockade of the offshore Quemoy has been punctured. It was also strengthened by nationalist aerial victories against the reds in dog fights over Formosa Strait.

There also was a feeling in U.N. circles that the reds were easing their pressure in Formosa — perhaps in the face of a solid western front. Britain and France joined yesterday in supporting American efforts to get a cease-fire in the crisis.

Couve de Murville said if the U.S.-Chinese talks in Warsaw broke down, the United Nations should try to resolve the problem.

The Warsaw talks continued to drag on, despite reports of deadlock.

Quemoy Supplied Under Heavy Fire

Nationalists Claim New Victory in Air Struggle

BY JAMES CARY
Taipei — Fresh supplies poured to Quemoy's defenders by air and sea amid heavy communist artillery fire today.

The buildup came as the Chinese nationalists announced another aerial victory that boosted their claimed kills to 29 — without a nationalist loss — since the Aug. 23 flare-up of the offshore war.

Parachute Supplies
 Pilots reported one MIG-17 shot down and another possibly damaged in a battle late yesterday between four of their American-built Sabres and 16 of red China's Soviet-supplied fighters off Swatow.

The first nationalist ship convoy to cross Formosa Strait since Monday sailed through a red barrage and sent amphibious vehicles racing to Quemoy's beaches with cargo to replenish garrison stocks. Four correspondents witnessed the operation on a flight back to Taipei.

Transport planes parachuted high priority supplies to the island overnight through skies peppered by bursting shells. It was the third such operation in three nights. The planes, using precision low-level tactics, dropped more than 400 cases of goods in the first two hours last night. None showed damage from the shell bursts, reporters in Quemoy said.

Though the supplies are flowing again, the big questions are how much is getting through and how long the blockade puncturing can be kept up.

These are vital questions because American policy of containing the Formosa Strait war seems now to hinge on

43 Dead, 33 Missing in Typhoon Ida

Tokyo — Lashing 50 to 80-mile-an-hour winds whipped this paralyzed, rain-drenched capital early today as the eye of Typhoon Ida swirled past 30 miles off shore. Meteorologists promised she would be gone by dawn.

Unofficial reports said 43 were killed in landslides and floods across Japan. Thirty-three were listed as missing, with 111 injured.

Driving rains poured 12 inches of water on Tokyo in 19 hours Friday and weathermen called it a record.

Police said 77,280 were left homeless by flooding and 18,610 houses inside the city were awash. More than 130,000 houses were partly flooded.

Communications were reported down in more than 420 places and overseas communications were disrupted. Tokyo's vast complex of electric railways was flooded to a standstill and streets all over the city were hubcap deep in water and lined with abandoned cars. Thousands of commuters were stranded downtown.

For the first time in 25 years, the emperor's placid imperial palace moat in the center of the city overflowed its banks and flooded nearby main traffic areas.

Satellite Launched but Orbiting Still in Doubt

3 Engines Perform in Normal Manner After Being Sent Into Space

Washington — An official of the International Geophysical Year said shortly after 1 p. m. (CDT) today he had nothing to report as yet as to whether the Vanguard satellite had gone into orbit. He said this was "not necessarily significant" as to the success or failure of the launching attempt made about 2½ hours earlier.

Cape Canaveral, Fla. — A weather probing Vanguard satellite was blasted into space today and preliminary instrumentation showed the rocket's three engines performed normally.

That meant the huge rocket blazed some 300 miles high in space, probably reaching a speed of 18,000 miles per hour.

An official announcement said, however, that it was not yet known whether orbital height was obtained. This should be determined within about 2½ hours.

The first word on whether the United States had placed a fourth satellite in orbit was expected to come from the National Academy of Science in Washington.

Earlier Failure
 The 72-foot, bullet-shaped rocket housed a 20-inch, 21½-pound satellite which, if orbited successfully, could spot large storm masses such as hurricanes and typhoons as they build up around the earth.

This was the seventh try at shooting a composite 3-stage Vanguard with only one success chalked up to date. It was also the first time a Vanguard had been fired successfully in two months. During the interim the slender missile was checked out from top to bottom and a few minor adjustments made in the first two stages.

An attempted launching of this same rocket was scrubbed last week when an electrical breakdown caused automatic engine cutoff a split second before lift-off. The mighty Vanguard engine ignited with a flash but shut down just as quickly when the trouble developed.

The main mission of the

"seeing eye" moon was to measure the movement and disposition of cloud cover around the world to aid meteorological studies. Two light sensitive photoelectric cells were carried in the satellite to do the job.

The 22,600 pound rocket climbed slowly aloft at 10:38 a. m., CDT.

It began to accelerate rapidly as it rose steadily into the cloud-filled Florida skies. The sleek missile was bucking a brisk westerly wind as it roared skyward.

The man tested .19 on the drunkometer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Faubus to Speak This Evening On Referendum

Little Rock, Ark. — Gov. Orval Faubus declared yesterday that a federal judge's refusal to block a private school plan brightened chances for keeping segregation here.

Faubus said he planned a televised speech tonight. He indicated it would deal with tomorrow's referendum on the school dispute.

The referendum will decide whether Little Rock's four closed high schools reopen on an integrated basis. Faubus shut the schools to avoid compliance with court-ordered integration. He wants the schools to operate as private and segregated institutions.

Violence as Algeria Votes

Algiers — Violence shattered an atmosphere already heavy with fear as voters in scattered parts of Algeria cast ballots today on Premier De Gaulle's proposed new constitution.

French officials reported at least six military clashes with nationalist rebels as voting seeking independence for Algeria began. Several rebel terrorist attacks occurred in Algerian cities.

Two Forces Feared
 At Setif rebels sprayed machinegun fire into a bar, killing one woman and injuring six other persons. Nearby a French soldier was wounded by a rebel grenade and a Moslem was assassinated.

Similar incidents were reported at Tlemcen and Peregau. The voters were given a yes-no choice on a document that makes no provision for Algeria itself. De Gaulle withheld any indication what the future will be for Algeria under his fifth republic which the constitution will establish. Moslems who make up 90

High School Students Riot in Arkansas-Texas Border Cities

Texarkana, Ark. — About 150 students turned a high school football rally into a riotous melee here last night and attacked cars driven by Negroes and whites.

The demonstration erupted at Broad and State Line avenues — the latter being the border of Texas and Arkansas. It involved students of Texarkana, Ark., High school and Texarkana, Texas, High.

About 300 students demonstrated in much the same manner during a pre-game rally in 1956.

Destroy Aerials
 The trouble began on the Arkansas side of the city and police dispersed the youths. The crowd then retreated across the street to Texas and yelled curses at the Arkansas officers.

The small Texarkana, Texas, police force struggled with the youths for about an hour. Reinforcements arrived and the police broke up the mob.

A newsman at the scene said the students ripped radio aerials off six or seven autos of Negroes and smashed the car windows.

At least two cars containing white persons also were attacked. A white woman, Mrs. Fern Clem, reported she was slapped by a student.

The newsman said the mob would wait for a Negro car to come along and then attack it.

One car carrying a white man was a small foreign vehicle. Some students picked it up bodily, wheels spinning, with the frightened driver inside. The car sped away when the youths put it down.

Police reported two students, whom they did not identify, were arrested and charged with malicious mischief.

The downtown section was virtually bare of Negroes within a short time after the demonstration began.

A check of hospitals in the city showed no one had been treated for injuries which might have been connected with the riot.

Police said they believed, however, that a number of students had received minor injuries in the clashes with Negroes.

Storm Perils Coastal Area

Carolina Residents of Low-Lying Regions Are Urged to Leave

Miami — Hurricane Helene bore down on the Carolina coast with rising fury today and the weather bureau urged residents in low-lying areas to flee to high ground immediately.

"Present indications are that the hurricane center will reach the South Carolina coast near or a short distance north of Charleston," the weather bureau's emergency warning said.

"People within the reach of the forecast tides and sea floods should evacuate immediately before rising water cuts off escape. This is an emergency warning for the area from Beaufort, S.C., to Cape Fear, N.C."

The bureau ordered up hurricane warnings along the entire coast from Cape Fear, N.C., to Savannah, Ga.

"Storm tides and high seas will flood coastal lands from Beaufort to Wilmington, N.C., and particularly from Charleston to Cape Fear, to heights of four to six feet above levels reached by normal tides for this date," it warned.

"In some local areas tides may be even higher." Throughout the area covered by the warning, the weather bureau said, "safety precautions should be started immediately and completed by sunset."

Destructive winds and dangerous tides will begin lashing the coast areas by 10 p. m. "At the latest," Chief Storm Forecaster Gordon Dunn announced.

Police Seek Men Who Slashed Reporter

Chicago — Police pressed an investigation today of a possible link between the slaying of a Chicago Daily News reporter and his published accounts of police crackdowns on pornographic material. But when you see material.

In the last year, police have arrested at least 17 men in raids that netted more than 35,000 obscene photographs, negatives and films, and some $40,000 in photographic equipment.

Miller Davis, 37, a staff reporter for the News, accompanied police on several of the raids. Wednesday night, he was lured to a street corner on a fake report that police planned another strike on the smut racket. He was seized by two unknown assailants and slashed across the face with a straight edge razor.

Premier's Foes Hint at Strife

Demand Ouster as His Backers Take Down Barricades

BY WILTON WYNN

Beirut — Hundreds of militant Phalangists surged through the streets of Beirut's port area today demanding the new government of one-time rebel Rashid Karami. Many Phalangists carried guns under the eyes of security forces. No violence was reported.

Karami said in a broadcast only last night the crisis and revolution was over.

Strike Launched
 While the Phalangists demanded Karami's removal, the prime minister's own supporters announced they were taking down barricades and filling in trenches in the Moslem Basta quarter. For 4½ months these sandbag barricades and trenches have blocked the approaches to the huge Basta area as rebels demanded the resignation of former President Camille Chamoun.

Basta leader Saeb Salam told the Associated Press today his national front had agreed to remove the barricades in response to an appeal by Karami. "But we re-

Await Decision on Virginia Schools

Richmond, Va. — The future educational course for 11,000 Virginia high school students may be decided in Baltimore tomorrow at an emergency session of the U. S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals.

At that time a 3-judge court will hear arguments — and probably rule — on appeals for a 1-year delay in desegregation orders handed down by federal judges in the case of Warren County High school in Front Royal and six secondary schools in Norfolk.

The 1,000-student school at Front Royal, Warren county's only high school, has been closed under state law since Sept. 15 because of a federal court order that 22 Negroes be admitted.

Three senior and three junior high schools in Norfolk have been ordered desegregated, and their opening date has been postponed twice, the last time until next Monday.

Panama Students Call 4-Day Protest Strike

Authorities Search for Arms Said to Be Stored for Uprising by Next Week

Panama—(U)—The student federation called high school and university students out today on a 4-day strike in continuing efforts to enforce demands on the government.

The call was issued as authorities searched for arms which the government says students and opposition politicians planned to use in a nationwide uprising by next Wednesday.

The student federation newspaper accused the government of setting up a "pan-tomime" to create a "situation of unrest" by reporting seizure of five batches of arms in the last two months. The paper said the government was planning to suspend civil liberties.

A spokesman for President Ernesto De La Guardia, Jr. denied the charge.

The strike call was precipitated, the student paper said, by approval of education law amendments by the permanent legislative commission yesterday. The principal amendment changes the method of appointing teachers and professors.

Professors who met to discuss the amendments were reported to have decided to stay away from their classes next Monday and Tuesday in protest.

The student newspaper also said the strike was called to protest alleged arming of administration supporters "against students and citizenry" and alleged government noncompliance with certain commitments given students.

Among the commitments listed was student participation in drafting legislation for educational reforms and for reducing the power of the National Guard. De La Guardia made some promises to students last May to end strife between students and the guard which resulted in nine deaths.

Ligonier, Pa.—(U)—This picturesque mountain community, site of a fort that played an important role in the French and Indian war, tingled with excitement today. The town's 3,500 citizens are playing host to President Eisenhower.

Top item on the agenda was a speech by the president, climaxing a bicentennial celebration that began last week and ends tomorrow.

Rounding out the day's activities was music by the University of Pittsburgh's marching band and dedication of the new Mellon park by U. S. Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.) and Gen. Richard K. Mellon, head of the Mellon financial family.

The president agreed to come to this community at the foot of the western slopes of the Allegheny mountains at the request of Mellon, a fellow Republican.

The site of the presidential speech was partially restored Ft. Ligonier along Loyalhanna creek in this forest-covered valley about 50 miles east of Pittsburgh.

Ft. Ligonier was built 200 years ago on orders of British Gen. John Forbes during the struggle between French and English.

U. S. Watches as Little Rock Voters Prepare to Go to Polls

Little Rock, Ark.—(U)—Little Rock voters tomorrow take their next critical step in the nation's white-hot integration controversy when they register their preference between integration or segregation of the school system.

The referendum results and steps expected to follow are critical for those southerners who consider a private school plan the last-ditch maneuver to keep Negroes out of all-white schools.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who ordered the referendum, says he will open the four high schools he closed Sept. 12 regardless of the ballot outcome.

May Desegregate

He has said that if integrationists win he will permit all Little Rock schools, with their 20,308 students, to desegregate without further interference.

If segregation forces win, the next step in Faubus' plan is to open the high schools as 8,000 eligible Negro voters.

Regardless of the balloting results, immediate court challenges are expected.

The ballot reads:

"For racial integration of all schools in the Little Rock school district."

Absentee Voting

Absentee voting indicates a heavy turnout.

W. H. Laubach, election committee secretary, estimated that about 42,000 voters reside in the district, which varies somewhat from the city limit.

Packer Game Out, but Red Smith's Available

Green Bay Native, Now Famous Sports Writer, Picks Top Baseball Thrills

BY JINGO

You won't see the Packer-Bear game on television Sunday unless you have a super set that can pick up Madison and Milwaukee CBS-TV outlets.

That's a shame or a disgrace, depending on your view, but Sunday afternoon at home for those with a touch of Green Bay in their hearts need not be a complete loss. There's a fellow named Red Smith due to hit the national TV screens.

Smith, a Green Bay native and well known in the Fox valley, is a brilliant sports columnist for the New York Herald Tribune and 90 - odd other newspapers across the country.

He has placed his jaundiced eye on world series history and selected his personal choices for the eight top all-time thrills for a special program at 5:30 p.m. over WBAY-TV.

He, Walter Cronkite and Phil Rizzuto will handle the dialogue. Their efforts will mark the start of the second season of "Twentieth Century," a weekly half hour of fascination last season.

You'll see such things as Lombardi sleeps, Mickey Owen miss the third strike, Lavagetto ruin a no-hitter and Larsen throw the perfect game.

About Smith? Here you have it in his own words: "Red Smith, christened Walter Wellesley on a cold day in 1905 in Green Bay, has been bleeding out daily sports columns for the Herald Tribune for about 13 years. Previous conditions of servitude have included 10 years at hard labor on the Philadelphia Record, 8 years (10, with two off for bad behavior) on the St. Louis Star-Times, and a year with the Milwaukee Sentinel. He admires sports for others and might have been a great athlete himself except that he is small, puny, slow, inept, uncoordinated, myopic and yellow."

Another program of interest bowing in Sunday afternoon is "Great Game of Politics," due for seven consecutive weeks at 4 p. m. on WBAY-TV.

Big Jack Russell, president of the Cleveland city council, will speak candidly on his rise from poor immigrant Hungarian parents and nighttime high school education to war boss.

Upcoming shows will feature the two national party chairmen, discussion of voting trends, a regional report on the fall elections, campaign financing, smear and fraud and a summary of the elections.

Wall Street Journal Portrays Old Paper In 'The Music Man'

New York—(A—) Broadway's smash hit "The Music Man" goes in for prop realism, even when it comes to reading matter.

In one scene, members of the cast supposedly read newspapers current in the year 1912. Journalistic makeup has changed drastically since, then, but Director Morton Da Costa found one suitable periodical.

Across the footlights, Da Costa decided, the financial daily, the Wall Street Journal, looks like a small-town Iowa newspaper of long ago.

TV Star Missing, but Nobody's Worried

Hollywood—(A—) A television star is missing. But no one's very worried. He might just be working somewhere as an extra.

Missing is Shadow, a chestnut horse who is Bat Masterson's mount in the Masterson TV series.

Ralph McCutcheon, Shadow's owner, said the horse disappeared from his Van Nuys ranch yesterday.

"He probably just got mixed up with some cast horses and is off on a location," said McCutcheon. The cast horses are for the extras to ride.

Big Day in Dublin to Push New Irish Movie Studios

BY EDDY GILMORE

Dublin—(A—) This is a story about a Scotsman who organized an airplane trip to Dublin to watch an Englishman direct an American in a film about Ireland on a location built by an Irish Jew.

The Scot was Jock MacGregor.

The Englishman, producer-director Michael Anderson. The American, James Cagney.

The Irish Jew, Louis Elliman, who has constructed a miniature Hollywood 12 miles south of the Irish capital.

The film, "Shake Hands With the Devil."

News Conference

The morning began with a news conference in the skies, 16,000 feet above the Irish sea. The conference was given by beautiful Dana Wynter, just in from California.

No cheesecake dummy, Miss Wynter discussed everything from medicine to mink with a degree of quick intelligence that stunned 47 British journalists asking the questions.

At Dublin airport the chartered plane was met by kilted colleens playing bagpipes and beating drums. This was followed by a conducted tour of Dublin.

Other Events

Philadelphia born Walter Seltzer, the producer, was host to a huge luncheon beneath a circus tent. In the evening the Irish Tourist board gave a reception attended by Eamon de Valera, who arrived late from Lourdes in an Irish airliner.

At Ardmore, the 42 acres of the Emerald Isle that have been turned into movie studios and settings, Ellerman explained:

"Ireland hopes many foreign companies will make movies here. Within a distance of 12 miles, we've got everything — mountains, the sea, the most modern movie studios in the world, and even a desert."

The Archaic Property Tax

It is a matter of real importance that every objective examination of the property tax system that has been carried on in Wisconsin in the last decade or more has concluded that the system is inefficient, inaccurate and haphazard.

The latest indictment comes in the first of a series of reports on the Milwaukee metropolitan area prepared by a non-partisan commission that is inquiring into urban government problems there.

The report is polite and impersonal. It uses academic language. But its major conclusion is inescapable: the property tax system cries out for reform.

The commission urges that each assessment district of the state — presumably by force of state law — be required to fix taxable property valuations at full value as determined by market factors. But it acknowledges, at least inferentially, that the machinery of the tax system must be fundamentally rearranged before that ideal can be realized. Larger assessment districts, more assessors, technically qualified men and women — these are the minimum essentials for the equitable administration of a tax system which remains the foundation of local government in Wisconsin despite all the hullabaloo about alternative methods of separating dollars from the citizens' purses.

Political Status

We observed a low license number on an automobile the other day and out of human curiosity checked on the name of the owner. He is a politician and public official of some rank in this state, and an altogether respectable and responsible person.

Yet we found some surprise in his willingness to accept a form of political patronage which is patently designed to communicate to the public the idea that he is a big shot.

Status, as the professors of sociology are forever reminding us, is important to most humans. There is no harm done in the system at Madison, established a long time ago, that permits men of political rank to have a low motor vehicle registration plate number if they ask for it. It is, indeed, one of the very few instances of patronage and pap available to the members of the legislature, for example. The value of such distinction, whatever it may be, has been reduced considerably by the installation of the serial system of registrations. There are now 10 low numbers where once there was one.

Yet we wonder what it is that impels

Delaying, But With Dignity

The state of Virginia, repelled as befits the Old Dominion by the violence that has characterized integration vs. segregation battles in more benighted sections of the South, is determined to wage the fight in a purely legal fashion. But it must be suspected that the issue as a political dream had as much to do with the present "massive resistance" to integration as did the people of the state. A majority of voters gave the new Gov. Lindsay Almond an overwhelming vote of confidence; but the percentage of voters in Virginia has never been high.

Hastily-passed state laws to bar integration temporarily have been knocked down one by one by federal courts and the Supreme Court. But there is no sign of a lessening of litigation. Gov. Almond has now used the authority given him by the legislature to close schools ordered integrated.

Some parents are beginning to object, particularly about the amount of authority over schools now placed with the state government rather than with local boards. The constitutionality of the law may be challenged in state courts by parents of white youngsters who realize the time their chil-

Lost Ducats and Lost Dreams

In tears I tossed my coin from Trevi's edge.
A coin unsordid as a bond of love —
And with the instinct of the homing dove,
I gave to Rome my rendezvous and pledge.
And when imperious Death
Has quenched my flame of breath,
Oh, let me join the faithful shades
That throng that fount above!

But the faithful who have tossed coins into fountains and wished are drifting away. Another blow has been meted out to romance and the bad guy, as usual, is Government.

For centuries travelers in many countries, but particularly Italy, have tossed coins into the myriad of carved marble fountains. They have wished for lost loves to come back, to find a cache of jewels, to raise a bountiful crops of olives. A coin tossed into the most famous, Trevi, in

These are goals that won't be easy to attain. The fact is that they are trite. They have been stated often before. Precisely nothing has happened. One of the oldest propositions before the Wisconsin legislature, in terms of repetitive introduction, is that which would broaden the base of assessments in property tax administration. There has yet to be any real pushing for such change, however, from the political or public opinion-making leadership of the state.

The problem is not the chance that property tax exactions are unfair and inequitable through any nefarious design. We are reasonably sure that the assessment system on the whole is honestly administered, within the lights of the functionaries involved. But there is no assurance of accuracy in many jurisdictions, quite aside from the integrity of the personnel. The varying base of assessment practice, moreover, makes comparative reports difficult and public understanding of tax trends, between jurisdictions, virtually impossible. Maybe we want it that way. Yet we hope the state as a whole will respond to the convincing showing of the Milwaukee study group that Wisconsin tax assessment theory is an absurdity when measured against actual practice, wherever an examination is made.

men to seek such means of calling attention to themselves, carrying with them a flag that says in effect:

"Look, I know the people in power; I have a low number."

Is this a sign of the abandonment of the former standards of dignity in public life?

We are aware, of course, that there are many men eligible for such favors under the tacit rules of our political system who spurn them as an affront to their self-respect. But there are unfortunately many who insist on such perquisites, without seeming to be aware of the sensitivity of others.

Some years ago an exuberant governor of this state, disappointed to discover after he had taken office that there are rigidly prescribed laws and rules inhibiting even a man of his rank, inspired a statewide guffaw by his promiscuous commissioning of "honorary colonels." Public ridicule ended that more notorious manifestation of pretense and false pride. We may wonder how many passing motorists jeer at the holder of low license numbers today, and what those jeers imply in public esteem for public office.

dren are losing by not being in school. There must be considerable pressure, both in Virginia and Arkansas, to get the schools open again if only in time to qualify for the football season.

Virginia schools will be gradually integrated, of course, when the arguments and appeals and legal maneuvers run out. The issue may keep alive for a few more years the political machine of Harry Byrd, an astute politician who knows an issue when he sees it. Another Virginian, Thomas Jefferson, writing about slavery, commented, "With what execration should the statesman be loaded who, permitting one-half of the citizens thus to trample on the rights of the other, transforms those into despots, and these into enemies?"

And still earlier William Byrd, also of Virginia, commented, "All nations of men have the same natural dignity, and we all know that very bright talents may be lodged under a very dark skin. The principal difference between one people and another proceeds only from the differing opportunities of improvement." The earlier Mr. Byrd's descendant should read those lines and consider.

Rome, would insure the individual's return some day to Rome.

There are no statistics as to what denizens of the world of shades picked up the coins. Perhaps small boys took a swim on warm evenings. The poor may have risked the dismay of travelers to scoop up a handful or two during night hours. But one man in Genoa was arrested when he waded in after the money.

A Genoese court acquitted him on the grounds that coins tossed into a fountain were, in effect, thrown away and belonged to no one. But Italy's highest tribunal reversed the decision. The coins tossed into public fountains, it ruled, belong to the municipalities which own and operate the fountains.

Maybe a few seeking small miracles or the romance of fantasy will still toss coins. But the glory is gone. Everyone knows that money which winds up in government coffers brings no mended dreams, answers no prayers and secures no true love.

May Need Higher Rates to Avoid Adding to Government Deficit

From The Casper (Wyo.) Tribune-Herald

Budget Director Maurice Stans says the administration may ask higher federal gasoline taxes and additional postal rate increases next year to avoid adding to a deficit that is a near peacetime high.

Note carefully the wording: To avoid adding to the deficit — not to reduce it, much less as part of a program to erase it. It is not only a discouraging prospect; it is a frightening one. For what this means is that federal spending is running

November Votes Could Change School Policy

From The Wisconsin Journal of Education

On Nov. 4, you will elect county, state, and federal officials. Although some positions are purely administrative, your legislators, governor, congressmen, and United States senator whom you choose will be in positions to determine educational policy. For education to advance, as we think it should, requires state and federal legislation. Reorganization, certification of teachers, and financing of public education are but a few of the issues requiring legislative action. No doubt the candidate's present attitude toward these issues is most likely the one that will govern his vote when the crucial time arrives to make his decision on a measure. To know his convictions before election rather than after is vital to democratic processes.

We are not telling you how to vote, but we are urging you to consider the candidate's promises for the future and his record of the past and then use your good judgment. By all means vote!

completely out of hand, and that there is no determined purpose to bring it under control.

The story is told in the midyear budget review.

Spending is projected at $79.2 billion, up more than $5 billion from that planned in January. Receipts are estimated at $67 billion, down $7.5 billion from the amount earlier expected. The $12.2 billion gap means borrowing that will put the debt near the newly-increased ceiling of $283 billion.

Now take a closer look. Military spending is scheduled to increase by only about $500 million, or one-tenth of total increased spending that has boosted the budget to a new peacetime high; and yet all during the congressional session the easily-voiced money demands were usually justified on the basis of security needs.

It is not defense that is putting the federal budget more than $12 billion in the red; it is free-and-easy handling of the people's money.

The biggest single increase in federal outlays will go for farm price supports in a bumper crop year — $1.6 billion more than had been estimated — in line with an agricultural program that steadily costs more and more without providing any solution of farm problems.

Certainly solution is not to be found in tax-supported subsidy, nor is this a burden taxpayers will much longer assume.

Much of other added spending comes as a result of the political panic over recession — housing outlays up a billion dollars; public assistance, half a billion; increases in the public works program, etc. And little of this spending of such short-term nature as to have much effect as a recession palliative.

The postal deficit will still hover near three-quarters of a billion dollars, though postal rates were increased to produce more than $400 million. The answer is that Congress also increased postal pay in an amount to wipe out the added revenue.

It is idle to talk about increased gas taxes when the crying need is for fiscal responsibility in both the executive and legislative branches of government.

UW Budget Points at Growing Tax Problem

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The historic budget request nervously made public by the University of Wisconsin administration last week should serve to remind the people of Wisconsin of the best kept secret in Wisconsin politics:

The state government is heading for serious financial trouble, unless it is prepared for a fundamental and thorough revision of its tax system.

With some apprehensive looks over their shoulders to the voters and taxpayers, the regents submitted a biennial spending figure that would have appeared astronomical only a few years ago — as, indeed, all present-day governmental spending figures appear radical to the mind accustomed to simpler times and sounder dollars.

The figures are not especially relevant, except as they show trends. The university proposes to enlarge its spending out of tax money for the next two years by about 25 per cent. And that is in spite of higher student fees, increases in gifts and grants, subsidies hidden and otherwise in the way of federal grants and state debt, and higher proprietary income from various services.

TYPICAL?

The university has served as a kind of lead horse in budget making and budget publicity. Its appropriations program is always accompanied by a big splash in the papers, and thus serves as a kind of a cue to the rest of the spending establishment within the state government.

Chances are that its requests will be somewhat on the high side. University budget makers know something of the way of politics. They know very well that the legislature's natural instinct is to reduce, and the longtime observer is inclined to believe they take that instinct into account in making their requests.

Yet on the whole the 25 per cent boost they are asking will be typical. Indeed, such few departments as have been heard so far are preparing equally unpleasant news. Some of them,

GRIN AND BEAR IT

"This is the usual thing when you make a television appearance, senator! Everybody in this business demands a credit line . . ."

Two summer travelers have returned to their classrooms at Appleton High school, have settled back into the bustling life of a high school senior and have come to similar conclusions:

Young people are the same the world over—only their languages and customs differ. In fact, Mary Metz and John Bubolz agree, there is as much difference between teenagers in various parts of the United States as there is among teenagers of other countries.

People in other countries have varied conceptions of life in the United States, most of them erroneous and rather wild.

Living with families in other countries is a valuable one to be undertaken by as many young people as possible.

The two AHS seniors were members of the American Field service program last summer and bring back to their homes and classmates a multitude of experiences and a more serious understanding of the world about them.

Two Countries

Mary, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Metz, 629 E. Grant street, lived with the Bruno Storrer family in Zurich, Switzerland, while John, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bubolz, 79 River drive, stayed with the Mustafa Hanci family in Izmir, Turkey.

The language barrier was negligible in both cases, Mary and John report, since some members of each family spoke English.

"My two Swiss sisters, one was 17 and one was 18, spoke excellent English. I had taken German in school so they could practice English on me and I could practice German on them," states Mary.

John's 16-year-old Turkish brother had studied English for seven years, a requirement in his school, and acted as language liaison between John and the elder Hancis. But, John goes on, he picked up enough Turkish to communicate on an elementary level with his summer parents.

Movie Misconceptions

Movies, the two agree, are partially responsible for misconceptions of American life, and both the Swiss and Turks appear to be possessed with notions of cowboys and Indians still roaming the country.

Although the younger element is not allowed to attend movies in Switzerland—"18 is the minimum limit unless it's a Walt Disney movie"—films still have a great influence, Mary states.

"But perhaps the wildest ideas on cowboys came from a Swiss writer who wrote many popular books on the subject. When he made enough money from his books to come to the United States, he found out he was wrong. The ideas had become so ingrained they're difficult to wipe out," Mary smiles.

John contends he saw more American movies in Turkey than he'd ever seen before in such a short period and notes he was barraged with "Do Indians still go on the warpath?"

Both young people also were bombarded with questions on the Negro problem and gangsters and both explained they attempted to answer the ticklish queries as judiciously as possible.

Comfortable Friendship

As young visitors from another land, Mary and John were guests at many parties, were taken on as many jaunts as possible through surrounding territories and were treated with a comfortable friendship wherever they went.

"We have an excellent ally in Turkey and even during the Lebanese affair last summer I noticed no tension. There was one exception, one Turk I talked to thought Russia might invade Turkey because the United States sent troops to Lebanon," John explains.

"The Turks, particularly my summer brother, seem to idolize America."

Mary, too, found Americans held in high esteem in Switzerland but perhaps not to such extremes as John found.

"The people I met seemed to have a tremendous respect for my country and were extremely interested in it."

"The last week in particular was difficult," Mary says wistfully. "I knew I wanted to come back to Appleton but I didn't want to leave my friends in Switzerland knowing I may never see them again."

John nods in agreement but adds he did a promotion job on his Turkish brother and may have convinced him to come to the United States for at least a year of study.

Wiley Won't Stump For GOP Ticket

But Senator Says He'll Confer With Jasper After Foreign Trip

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — Alexander Wiley, senior senator from Wisconsin and the Wisconsin Republican party's most durable office-holder, has virtually removed himself from the election campaign which his fellow Republicans regard as the most difficult they have waged in a generation.

Sen. Wiley talked about his election season plans at a press conference here Thursday, and the most important thing the reporters learned is that he has no present intention of stumping for the Republican ticket.

As in other years when he is not on the ticket as a candidate, the senior senator has removed himself from the election campaign which his fellow Republicans regard as the most difficult they have waged in a generation.

Board Looks At Need for New Building

Seymour — Building needs of Seymour High school were discussed by the board of education Thursday.

The present enrollment of 501 students is three years ahead of schedule, the board learned. The large enrollment has necessitated larger study halls and a 7-period day which is already in progress.

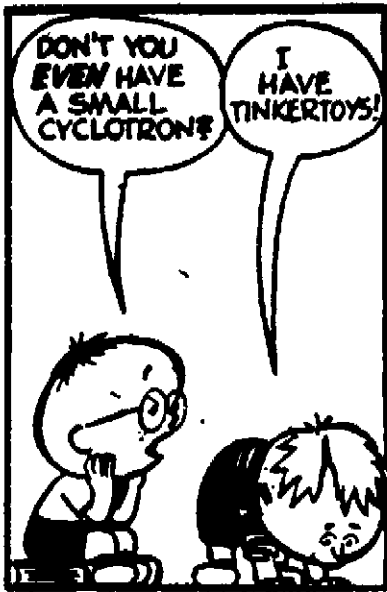

According to Director Marvin Babbitt, plans to build additions to the school will be discussed in detail at the November meeting.

In motions before the board, a 50-cent per day raise was denied Mrs. Mable Schlack, second cook for the hot lunch program at the school. About 370 people are served lunches in one average day at the school.

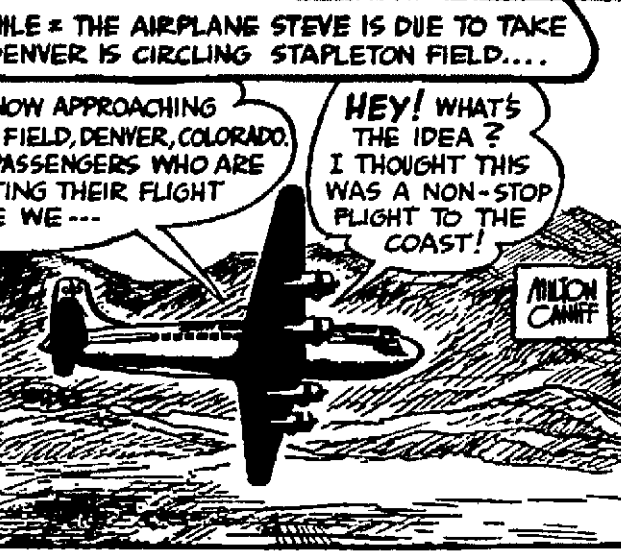

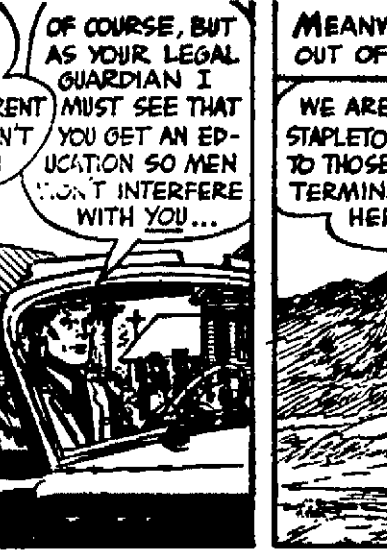

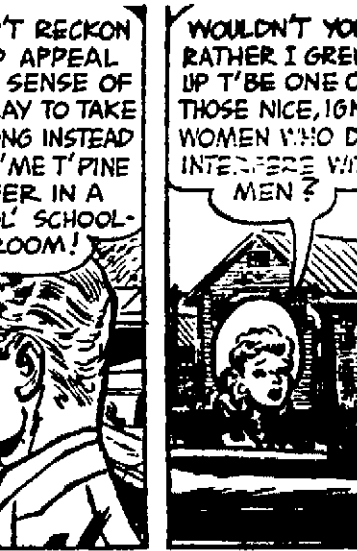

The board voted in favor of sending the high school choral group to Milwaukee, where they will sing at the state convention of school board members.

The board will meet with all new high school instructors Oct. 16.

Develop Small Monuclear Bomb

Livermore, Calif. — A hydrogen bomb researcher Edward Teller says his laboratory is developing a small mobile thermonuclear weapon that could be used against individual planes, ships, missiles or small troop formations.

Only H-bombs large enough to wreck large cities have been made and the small, tactical A-bombs currently produced are based on atomic fission rather than fusion and can create hazards of radioactivity.

The proposed weapon used the energy of fusion and would leave virtually no radioactive products, Teller said.

Teller, a researcher in the Livermore, Calif., laboratory of the atomic energy commission, disclosed the new project in a publication of the alumni of the University of California, which operates the laboratory.

WILBERT Super Pumpkin Going to Ike

Baltimore — A Baltimore market is shipping a 91-pound pumpkin to President Eisenhower because he showed an interest in pumpkins during his New England vacation.

"When we saw that pumpkin at one of our stalls we knew it just had to go to the president in view of what happened last week," said Hugh Wagner, general manager of Lexington market.

Eisenhower was fingering some pumpkins at a fruit stand in Little Compton, R. I., last Wednesday when he asked the operator:

"How many will it take to make a pumpkin pie?"

"That depends on how big a pie you want," answered the woman, who didn't realize until later that she was talking to the president.

"Our pumpkin can make 70 8-inch pies," Wagner said. And he added that it was the largest seen in the market's 176 years of operation.

Church Crowded in Spite Of Soviet War on Religion

BY BEVERLY DEEPE
Written for the Associated Press

Below me was a mass of praying humanity. The wooden benches were invisible under the crowd. People stood on the stairways, they were packed six deep in the side door which opened onto a pile of rubble.

This was a Baptist church service in Moscow which I was visiting as a member of the U. S.-U.S. S. R. student exchange. Two other members and Victor, our Russian translator, came to church with me.

An elderly man in a dark gray suit at the church door motioned us upstairs to the balcony. All the seats in the church were filled, except for a long narrow visitors' bench next to the railing.

The old women among the 1,500 worshippers wore black or brown dresses with white or printed bandanas. Only three wore dark straw hats with simple trim.

Old men with white beards and mangy suits were sprinkled throughout the congregation.

And—Although the communized since Jan. 1, 1958, and nist line says religion is for more are on probation), old women — I noticed about every fifth person in the congregation looked under 35.

(The American Baptist convention headquarters in New York says the Baptist church one. There were no hymnals in Russia has grown from 28. in the church. Some members 900 members in 1912 to 530,000 carried the verses in books members today. Baptists say printed in the old pre-revolutionary orthography. Many carried the verses in their hearts.

I shall remember this singing for years — a slow, melancholy, almost despairing singing that reverberated from the high white ceiling and the undecorated walls.

The minister's sermons interwove scripture readings with Christian principles to be followed by the congregation. A woman across from me wiped her eyes as the minister instructed the worshippers to remain strong despite many troubles and temptations. I saw other women blowing their noses.

A stifled sobbing rose throughout the congregation when the closing prayer asked forgiveness for wrongdoing and Christian acts omitted from their lives.

In this last article in her 4-part series on impressions of Russia as an American exchange student, Beverly Deepe describes a Baptist church service she attended in Moscow.

repeats the Soviet government line on why the Russian Orthodox church in the United States and Russia are separated.

"Heretics won't recognize the power of the metropolitan in Moscow because of their own political views and because they are supported by the U.S. government," he said.

This is a society whose academy of science and museum of religion in Leningrad labels the Roman Catholic pope as "the banker and capitalist" and terms the Vatican "the great financial center."

I thought: Religion in the Soviet Union can meet these obstacles only with tears such as I saw in this service, and the words: "We pray. We don't criticize."

Utility Asks Increase in Electric Rates

Wisconsin Michigan Firm Leaves Amount Up to Commission

The Wisconsin Michigan Power company Thursday asked the public service commission for authority to increase its electric rates.

The firm serves the Appleton metropolitan area, several counties in east-central and northern Wisconsin and in Upper Michigan.

The company did not make a specific proposal, but asked the state regulatory agency to set the new rate schedule to provide the firm a fair return on its investment.

In its application the utility said the boost was needed to cover higher costs of labor and equipment, taxes and the increased cost of power it buys from its parent firm, the Wisconsin Electric Power company. The increase also would put the firm in a more favorable position for borrowing money it will need for later plant expansion.

Other Points Made According to firm officials, the utility plans to issue and sell additional securities to finance new construction. The application points out the firm will be unable to acquire additional capital on a favorable basis if its electric rates are not sufficient to enable the utility to earn a reasonable return.

The company also pointed out the public service commission in August granted a rate increase to Wisconsin Electric Power company, and ruled sales of power to Wisconsin Michigan Power company were deficient by $473,000 annually. Application has been made with the federal power commission to correct that deficiency. Approval would increase costs of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company by that amount.

Wisconsin counties served by the firm include Outagamie, Calumet, Winnebago, Shawano, Brown, Waupaca, Waushara, Florence, Forest, Marinette, Oconto and Vilas. The last rate increase granted to the Wisconsin Michigan Power company was in 1949, which came after a long series of rate decreases.

Greetings Read

Throughout the service, white slips of paper fluttered from the balcony and were passed to the front of the room. From them, a minister read greetings from other Baptist churches behind the Iron Curtain. The congregation responded: "Greetings." Other messages requested prayers for the sick.

As we left the church, Victor — a member of the young communist league — said: "It was jammed. This surprised me."

It surprised me too, for I kept thinking of the pressures against church-going which I had noted in this atheistic society — a society which pulls children from worship on Sunday morning for a movie sponsored by communist youth organizations.

This is a society in which a Russian Orthodox professor

Water Softening System Should be Installed Early

Ideal Time, Most Builders Agree, Is at the Start of Construction

If you live in a hard water area and are planning to buy or build a new home, take a cue from builders who say most new homes have had an automatic water softener installed along with the other plumbing fixtures.

This, according to water conditioning experts, is the ideal way to do the water softening job—but if a softener is not installed at the time of construction, or if you plan to use soft water service rather than buy a new unit, make sure that your builder sees to it that correct plumbing connections are put in so that a softener can be installed at a later date.

Built on Slabs
This is particularly important, the experts say, in the case of houses built on slabs. Breaking into a slab at a later date to make water softener connections will add substantially to installation costs.

With 85 per cent of the United States and Canada hard water areas, many builders today are offering automatic water softeners as optional or even standard equipment in their new homes. As an integral part of the house, the cost of the water softener is then included in the total price.

In the event that you plan to install a softener unit yourself, the experts recommend that the softener be installed between the water meter or inlet pipe and the hot water heater. This will assure a continuous flow of both hot and cold soft water for the house.

Space No Problem
Space is no particular problem—although, ideally, it should be allowed either in the utility room or basement area. A modern automatic water softener occupies less than one foot of floor space, and stands only 53 inches high. Any water over three grains hard should be softened for efficient and economical use. If not, water conditioning experts say, the average family wastes about five pounds of soap a year for every grain of hardness in the home water supply.

Paperboard Output Last Week Rose to New Tonnage Total

Chicago — United States mills last week produced a record 311,174 tons of paperboard, despite a 2-point drop in the industry's operating rate.

National Paperboard association said the industry operated at 95 per cent of capacity, compared with a 97 per cent rate the week before when output totaled 305,978 tons. In the like week last year 296,404 tons were made on a 96 per cent rate. Air Force Plans New Space Stab Alamogordo, N. M. — The air force plans to send another manned balloon into the stratosphere in its efforts to learn what qualifications a space pilot needs. The flight also will continue a study of how to build a capsule capable of carrying a man safely into space, the air force said yesterday. First Lt. Clifton M. McClure, 26, of the air force missile development center near Alamogordo has been chosen to make the third Project Man High balloon ascension, possibly late next week. Just when he goes depends on the weather around the Minneapolis area, where he is making preparations. A strong wind in the wrong direction could result in a cold swim in the Great Lakes.

McClure earned his master's degree in vermic engineering at Clemson college in 1955. He was born in Anderson, S. C., is married and has a year-old son. He was assigned to the missile development center last May and works under Lt. Col. David Simons, who took a 102,000-foot-high balloon ride last year in the second man high ascension.

The capsule McClure will ride in is the same as that used by Capt. Joe Kittinger on the first man high ride to 96,000 feet last year, except it has more equipment and is about a foot taller. Simons also went up in the capsule.

Too Much of a Good Thing

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP New Features
Too much of a good thing in your home decor can ruin the effect. That goes for plants as well as grandfather clocks.

A plant can be a useful joy, serving the home decoratively. But even a well kept plant can become an eyesore if grown without imagination or not integrated properly into the home atmosphere. The Japanese achieve charming effects with small plants, and the tiniest bit of flora becomes a conversation piece—an arrangement that is eye-catching or a simple plant that is beautiful enough to stand on its own.

For Granted
Americans take plants for granted, and there is little effort to dress up a plant that might as well be artificial for all its lack of glamor. Straggly little vines, absurd snake plants or other greenery, identifiable only by the owner's knowledge of horticulture, are examples of bad taste. A plant should have a purpose in life. A collection of house plants should be a meaningful asset to a room. Why not give a sweet little

THE HANDY FAMILY

Here's the Answer

BY ANDREW C. LANG
AP New Features

Question: There is a crawl space under our house that is always damp. I have heard all kinds of suggestions on what kind of material to put down to keep the ground moisture from moving up into the house. One of these materials is called a polyethylene plastic film. Is it any good? And is it expensive?

Answer: A polyethylene plastic film is the product in which many vegetables and other foods are packaged to keep them fresh. It has been successfully used for covering the ground in a crawl space and thus keeping the moisture from attacking the bottom of the house. It is relatively inexpensive.

Question: We are getting ready to buy a house, but are having a family argument about whether to get a ready-made home or have one built to our own design. Can you tell us the advantages and disadvantages of buying or building?

Answer: It might be possible to give you a partial answer if this entire page were at our disposal. Since it isn't, this will have to do: Before you can have a home built to order, you must first acquire a suitable plot in a suitable neighborhood. This is not always as easy as it sounds, because choice locations usually are bought up by development companies or contractors. When you have a house built to order, you get exactly what you want in the way of design, individuality, and so on. But — and this is the vital factor to most families — a house built to order necessarily costs more than one which has been built as part of a development.

Question: In putting calking compound around the part of the bathtub that is against the wall, should the compound be painted?

Answer: The life of the compound will be lengthened by painting it. You can paint it white or the same color as the bathtub or the wall. The painting should be done a day or two after the compound is applied.

Question: I would like to

Working Bench Helps Keep Basement Tidy

Well Tended Tools Regarded as Marks Of Careful Workman

BY JOHN O. S. WALLACE

New York — A tidy work bench and an orderly repair kit are essential to the home handyman. Well tended tools and neatly stored materials are the marks of a careful workman.

Treated with respect, even complex tools give long, trouble-free service. On the other hand, neglected, dull and rusted tools make repair jobs more difficult.

Another thing, if your work bench looks like it's been hit by a hurricane, there's always the tendency to postpone minor repair jobs until they become costly, major ones.

Start tidying up by weeding out useless items such as dried out cans or jars of putty and paste, rusted nails, scrambled nuts and bolts, worn down pencil stubs and broken tools. Replace only what you need.

To avoid waste through breakage, spillage and drying out, buy repair kit items packaged in unbreakable and easily capped containers, whenever possible.

Metal Tubes Are Handy
Hardware stores carry a large assortment of home repair materials in fold-up metal tubes. These are easy to handle, easy to store, and they have the additional advantage of being light in weight and air tight.

Metal tubes roll up, like a tube of toothpaste, as the materials in them are used and they require less storage convert one of our clothes closets into a cedar closet. Can I use the ordinary cedar compound around the part of the bathtub that is against the wall, should the compound be painted?

Answer: Yes, regular cedar will do the job effectively. The important thing is to line the entire closet with cedar, not just part of it or almost all of it. This includes the inside of the closet door, which should also be weatherstripped to prevent any of the cedar fumes from escaping.

space in a repair kit. They also can be hung on a wall or on the back of a work bench in a row of small spring clips. A second row of spring clips, mounted on the back of your work bench or on the wall, can be used to hold your tools. A handyman's repair kit, incidentally, should include at least a medium-weight hammer, pliers, a small wire cutter, large and small screw drivers, a small saw and a monkey wrench. Also, a flexible tape measure, insulating tape and an assortment of nails and screws.

Improvised Bench
A full-fledged work bench usually is a luxury reserved for the homeowner. Yet you can improvise one in an apartment if you have a spare, solid closet door — leading, say, into a storage closet.

Using plywood, hinges and a piece of 2 by 6 as a base, the latter secured against the back of the door, make your apartment work bench in much the same way you would make a drop leaf table mounted on a wall.

The top edge of the 2 by 6 base should be placed about 36 inches off the floor and mounted horizontally on the inside of the door with the 6-inch-wide face against the door. The base should be trimmed enough at the sides to permit the door to close.

The plywood bench should be cut the same width of the trimmed base and about 30 inches in depth. Hinge it to the base. A lightweight, collapsible "horse" completes the apartment work bench. Simply open the closet door, raise the plywood on its hinges and rest it on the horse. The part of the door above the drop-leaf work bench can be used to hang tools and materials just as if it were the back of a basement work bench.

plant the dignity of an interesting container, so it may become part of the household? Why relegate it to ignominy flatterer 10 other awful little species of plant life, grouped together in sickly style on a table or tray, living only for the satisfaction of the grower who revels in having made "something" grow. A child can keep an ordinary plant healthy by faithful attendance to the watering can. Colorful plants such as the begonia offer a challenge to the living room gardener and flattery to the home.

Here are some pointers for making plants an asset to the household:

1. Philodendron, ivy or other small plants grown individually may be put in attractive containers such as a cache pot. A small clay pot may be imbedded into a soil-filled pewter, china or other important looking bowl. (Large sugar bowls whose tops have been broken are ideal for this.)
2. An inexpensive container in an unusual shape may graciously offer respite to a few small plants. These should be arranged with an eye-catching pattern in mind.
3. Small plants displayed on a table tray or plant stand in a bay window or picture window can be extremely effective, looking like a floral portrait. A plant of the same type — geraniums, begonias, African violets — may be used to decorative advantage, complementing your color scheme.

5. Static effects in plants should be avoided. A philodendron growing up along bark stuck in a flower pot can be dull unless the plant is fully grown, with an abundance of lush leaves, and can be displayed in a place where its height will prove to be an advantage.

6. Most plants may be dressed up with the addition of others. Variegated ivy is charming with geraniums. There are many more that are compatible.

Must Plans For Movies Be Dropped?

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: If friends should pay us an unexpected visit just as my husband and I are about to go to the movies, could they be offended if I asked them to come back another time, or must we stay home and entertain them?

Answer: If the movie is one that you especially want to see and it is playing just the one night, you could say, "John and I are just on our way to the Bijou to see. . . . To night is the last night it is being shown here and we do want very much to see it. Wouldn't you and Henry like to see it, too?" If they say no, it would not be rude to go, and ask them to come another evening.

Use of Rank

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married shortly to a man in the service. He is a staff sergeant in the air force. I would like to know how his name should correctly appear on the invitations. Should it be Mr. John Jones or Sergeant John Jones?

Answer: His name should appear as John Jones and directly beneath in smaller type Sergeant, U.S. Air Force. It would be unusual but not wrong to put Mr. before his name.

Young Brothers Can be Pests, Patri Explains

BY ANGELO PATRI

"Mother, could you please keep Ruddle with you tonight so you can watch him? Peter is coming here tonight. We don't want to go anywhere and I thought we could sit in the garden for a while, then I'd get out some sandwiches and fruit juice drinks and we'd have them in the kitchen. But if Ruddle is around he'll spoil everything, and I do want this to be a success. He's the most popular boy in the school and this is his first call here. I don't want it spoiled."

"What makes you think Ruddle would spoil it?" "Oh, you know his tricks. He does the most embarrassing things. He has a brutal sense of humor. If he is allowed to interfere tonight—"

"Now don't be silly. If your boy friend is so thin-skinned that a small boy can upset him he isn't worth fussing about. This is Ruddle's home too."

"All right. Then we go out. I'll phone Peter to meet me at the candy store and we'll go out. I'll phone Peter to meet me at the candy store and we'll go to a show. If I can't have a place in the house I can have one outside and Ruddle can enjoy himself," and Phyllis raced upstairs to have a good cry.

Changes Her Mind

Her mother, left stranded by the outburst took a chair to think things over. Maybe it would be better to keep an eye on Ruddle. He was mischievous and he might embarrass a young girl like Phyllis. In her day girls of 16 did not have boy friends who called on them evenings. Odd how children suddenly become strangers in their own home. Maybe the child was only

Designing Woman

BY ELIZABETH HILLVER

A Designer Suggests Striking Decoration With Wallpaper

John R. Denst is a wallpaper designer, so perhaps it is understandable that he thinks wallpaper can be used for almost anything. But he's coming very close to proving it to real skeptics on the site of his hideaway summer home. He hung one of his own stunning wallpapers backed by canvas on two outside walls of the small shack he lived in while working on the new house—and it has lasted there, bright and sturdy, through three cold winters' snows and hot summers' rains? It's quite a starter on the calm dune scene, as the tiny corner sketch shows.

Mr. Denst's suggestions here that although wallpaper in a trim all-over pattern does wonders when it's used all over, as in the left center sketch, special uses of striking motifs can bring great distinction to a room.

If the landlord insists on plain walls and you love decoration, you can have it in wallpaper panels that hang like pictures on the wall. For his own American Tapestry design, at lower left, Mr. Denst's how-to instructions are to mount wallpaper on canvas on screen panels to fit, or paper without canvas on plywood. This way, you can

Pioneer Pair
Appleton Pair Marks
2 Anniversaries Today

BY DAVID APKER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Today marks a double anniversary for a pioneer Appleton couple — Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Lehman, 1507 W. Pine street.

The couple celebrates their 58th wedding anniversary and the husband's 90th birthday anniversary.

Lehman is best remembered by many Appleton residents as the owner and captain of the Fox River excursion boat, "Fawn," around the town of the century. He captained the craft from 1898 to about 1913.

"We used to take groups up and down the river . . . sometimes as far as High Cliff or Berlin. Often the outing would last a week," Lehman recalled.

Popular Trips

"The excursions were popular with Lawrence college students, but a lot of other groups used to charter the boat too."

After quitting the business, Lehman worked 35 years for the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company. He was a crane operator and maintenance man until retirement in 1948.

Lehman's parents came to Appleton in 1865 from Huston, where they had settled after immigrating from Germany. Their first home stood on the site of the present Wisconsin Telephone company office building at the corner of W. Washington street (called Edward street then) and N. Superior street.

The family finally settled on what is now Lutz park, near the river. The property was known as Lehman's landing. River boats used to unload their passengers at the dock. In the 1870's a resort was built near the landing for local picnickers.

Lehman's father owned one of the first ice companies in the city. He remembers helping his father and the workers during ice cutting operations on the river. The company later merged with the Blackwood Ice company. The Lutz Brothers company eventually purchased the combination.

Remembers Electric Firm

Lehman remembers first-hand many Appleton events that succeeding generations recall only in history books. He was outstanding in his memory is the establishment of the Appleton-Edison Electric company, owner of the world's first hydroelectric plant.

Lehman was one of the first members of the Appleton Eagles club.

He has been confined to his home by illness for the last three years, but remains an avid reader. He retains his sense of humor and flashes a jolly smile and twinkling eyes when amused.

Mrs. Lehman is the former Louise Schultz, daughter of other Appleton early settlers.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Leggy or Lovely?

With skirt lengths what they are, it behooves a woman to be more than ever fussy about her stocking selections. The shades you wear can satirize or glamorize the looks of your legs.

For glamour, the color of your stockings must form an alliance with that of your costume or shoes. Unrelated stockings leave the legs dangling and gangling in mid-air.

Due to the endless range of new stocking shades good tie-ups can now be made in several ways: A tone-on-tone scheme — copper brown suit, darkish brown shoes and to-paz (golden brown) stockings. This scheme works best when the costume is in a neutral or quiet shade.

A costume-stocking combination with a contrasting shoe — gem-red coat, stockings with iridescent pink tones, winter-navy shoes. And an idea that lends itself especially to bright outfits.

So new as to be almost untied, a bright costume with dark stockings and shoes — royal blue dress, black shoes and off-black stockings. Certainly that's one for the adventurous!

'Plot to Kill Stalin' One of TV's Finest Productions

BY CHARLES MERCER

New York — "The Plot to Kill Stalin," the first "Playhouse 90" offering of the new season on CBS-TV last night, was a fascinating drama that imaginatively probed a secret chapter of history.

Under the direction of Delbert Mann, this superb production took the television audience inside the Kremlin and inside the minds of a group of men whose ruthless drive for power has resulted in no peace in our time.

Seldom has TV drama presented such a gallery of vivid characterizations by an outstanding cast. Life in a police state, as staged with remarkable realism, appeared as grim for the chiefs of police as for the prisoners.

Brilliant Acting

Melvyn Douglas brilliantly portrayed the aging Stalin — relentless, crafty, bold, suspicious. As his private secretary, his confidant Poskrebishev, Eli Wallach played a

Sears, Roebuck Says First Half Sales, Net Fell From '57 Period

Chicago — Sears, Roebuck and company reported net sales for the six months ended July 31 amounted to $1,635,560,692, a decrease of $33,424,673 or 1.98 per cent from the comparable 1957 period.

Net income after taxes for the 6-month period was $61,549,553, a decrease of 5.98 per cent from $65,461,524 in 1957.

Earnings per share in the period amounted to 82 cents, down from 87 cents per share last year.

Fowler B. McConnell, chairman of the board, and Charles H. Kellstadt, president, said the decrease in the company's sales and profits "reflected the pattern of the general economy."

In the interim report to the stockholders, the officials noted that a moderate upturn in business is expected, and we feel that the results of the current year will compare favorably with 1957."

Sears opened 16 new retail stores during the first half of its fiscal year, compared with 13 in the 1957 period. As of July 31, 726 retail stores were operated.

Committee Asks Council to Take Park for Pool

The council Wednesday will be asked to endorse negotiations for Interlake park as an outdoor swimming pool site.

Pool committeemen Thursday received notice from Consolidated Water Power and Paper company that the company is willing to negotiate.

The park is an 8.2-acre tract across from Richmond school at John and South River streets. The city leases it from the company for $1 a year and uses it as a light softball field.

Committeemen said they will present the request for negotiations at a committee of the whole meeting and, if the council approves the request, will then ask the board of public works hire an architect.

About $250,000

Construction is expected to cost about $250,000. Committeemen have in mind a T-shaped pool like the one at Neenah.

The board of education declined to use the field as a playground for Richmond school after Ald. Schneider urged building of an 8-room addition to the school.

In turning down the plan, the board in September said the site is too small for playground, that it would be too dangerous to send children across John street and that costs of a 4-room addition, which the board proposed, would be doubled.

Rep. Reuss Will Address County Democrats Oct. 25

Rep. Henry Reuss, Milwaukee, will address an Outagamie county Democratic meeting in Appleton Oct. 25.

Chairman Mrs. William Cherkasky reported at a meeting in Dale Thursday night.

Other Democratic candidates who will appear in the county are Gaylord Nelson, candidate for governor, at New London, tonight and Saturday; Sen. William Proxmire, Oct. 17, and Phil Lee, lieutenant governor candidate, sometime near the end of October.

John S. Denigan, Little Chute, reported on posting of campaign posters and Lester A. Balliet, Appleton, announced a "Dollars for Democrats" drive will start in the county Saturday.

Fulcer Resigns Post On GOP Committee

Alvin Fulcer, Kimberly, has resigned as a member of the Outagamie county Republican statutory committee.

He was elected a precinct committeeman earlier this month by write-in vote. Fulcer said he resigned because he did not want the post.

'Aku-Aku'
New Heyerdahl Book Solves Mysteries of Easter Island

About 10 years ago, as the Kon-Tiki raft drifted silently across the vastness of the Pacific, Thor Heyerdahl and his companions sat on deck in the moonlight talking about the mystery of Easter Island lying far to the south. This isolated, primitive, almost barren dot of land, now a possession of Chile, is rarely visited by ships from the outside world, although a Chilean naval vessel calls there once a year.

In prehistoric times, however, it must have been the home of a highly developed and strangely gifted culture, for the island is still covered with awesome, ancient human figures carved out of stone, each of them as tall as a house and as heavy as a railroad car. As the Kon-Tiki made its slow way westward, Heyerdahl resolved that some day he would organize an expedition to study the archaeology of the island and the origin of these mysterious stone images.

In 1955 his ambition was achieved. He arrived on Easter Island aboard a well-equipped diesel tugboat, accompanied by a group of other experts and specialists.

In the course of a year's stay there they not only solved the riddle of the great earthen figures but also stumbled upon evidence of a realm almost as fantastic as that of the island of Oz.

Navel of World

Easter island has fascinated the Western world ever since the first European, the Dutchman Roggeveen, sailed into its waters in 1722. The earliest visitors found two distinct races living there — one short and dark, ethnically kin to the people of other Pacific islands, the other tall and fair, with brilliant red hair.

The local name for the island was Te Pito o te Henua, or Navel of the World. Its Western name originated from the fact that Roggeveen first saw the island and spotted the smoke signals from her strange people on an Easter Sunday afternoon.

When Heyerdahl and his party arrived they found that only a handful of descendants of the original inhabitants survived. Among them, fortunately, was the man who was familiar with the traditions of his ancestors; he could not only explain how the huge figures had been carved out of solid rock with primitive tools but could illustrate how they had been laboriously transported from one end of the island to the other, and then set upright high on stone terraces, their backs to the sea.

Heyerdahl found that the uncrowned king of Easter island was a Catholic priest, Father Sebastian Englert, who, except for a few minor Chilean officials, was the only outsider permanently residing there. It was Father Sebastian's stubborn belief in an old native legend which helped explain what must have happened to bring about the almost total extinction of the legendary "long-ears," as the tall, fair, red-headed Easter Islanders were known, leaving the "short-ears," the small, dark, more typical Polynesian race, dominant there today.

Many of the natives reasoned that such a brave and fearless sailor as Heyerdahl must have supernatural powers, or an especially powerful "aku-aku" (their name for a private guardian spirit) to help and protect him in everything he undertook. So impressed were they with his "aku-aku" — that some came to believe him a descendant of a legendary "long-ear" who in ages past had sailed away, promising someday to return.

One night a certain Heyerdahl presented him with a strange and obviously very old relic — a little stone figure almost as fantastic as that of a man with a rat in its mouth. This was completely unlike anything scientists had seen on the island before.

Heyerdahl had heard rumors of highly secret and jealously guarded ancestral caves which were supposedly filled with weird, symbolic stone images, but this was the first evidence that such images and caves did, in fact, exist.

He was soon able to persuade a native to take him to his particular family cave, and before very long he explored others. Though more than once the exploration almost cost him his life, Heyerdahl thus discovered evidence which casts a completely new light on the strange culture which, long before Columbus set sail for America, extended from the shores of South and Central America far beyond Easter island to Polynesia itself.

Lawrence Says Bill Allows State to Keep Divided Schools

Oklahoma Given Permission to Have 'Separate' Education

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — The mess of conflicting "legalities" in which the American people find themselves today over the "integration" question is best illustrated by the fact that in one state of the union—namely, Oklahoma—it still is the law of the land to permit segregated public schools.

This paradox comes about because congress in 1907 entered into a binding compact with the people of Oklahoma specifically permitting them to maintain white and colored schools, respectively. The act of congress, which was embodied in the constitution of Oklahoma and ratified by the people of that state, declared: "That provisions shall be made for the establishment and maintenance of a system of public schools, which shall be open to all the children of said state and free from sectarian control; and said schools shall always be conducted in English; provided, that nothing herein shall preclude the teaching of other languages in said public schools; and provided further, that this shall not be construed to prevent the establishment and maintenance of separate schools for white and colored children."

'Enabling Act'
It will be noted that, at the same time this was passed by congress and ratified by the people of Oklahoma as a part of their constitution, it was specifically stipulated in the "enabling act" passed by congress that the constitution of Oklahoma "shall make no distinction in civil or political rights on account of race or color."

Thus a differentiation was made between "civil or political rights," on the one hand, and the rights involved in the maintenance of separate schools, on the other.

The citizens of Oklahoma today can insist on the benefits given by a statute passed by congress. The fourteenth amendment, of course, does not restrict federal laws but applies solely to state laws. It would be possible for some litigant to argue that, without any state laws on the subject, "separate but equal" educational facilities are still legal in the state of Oklahoma because they have been authorized by an act of congress which has never been repealed and which has never been ruled invalid by the supreme court of the United States.

Act of Congress
It is true that an act of congress was also involved in the District of Columbia case, decided on May 17, 1954, when segregation was condemned in local schools. But an act of congress providing for the governing of a territory or a federal district is not the same thing as an act of congress which deals with the admission of a state and its rights under a written constitution.

It will be suggested that the supreme court would simply say in such a case that it is "unthinkable" for one state to be ruled by a federal law while the others are not. Certainly from time to time the supreme court has insisted that the "enabling act" which creates a new state does not add or subtract "civil or political rights" from the state but places it

The Dream of Christine Currier's 10-year span of life—to go to school—was fulfilled last Monday. Suffering from a rare disease which made her bones as brittle as glass, she was nicknamed "China Doll." Shown here last year with a typewriter, friends had donated so she could do her schoolwork, Christine learned to read and write and doctors finally gave her permission to go to school. Monday was the big day and her mother said she had a wonderful time. But that night she fell ill and while on the way to the hospital Christine died quietly in her mother's arms.

May Double Interest.

U. S. Wants to Borrow $3½ Billion To Pay Off Mounting Federal Bills

Washington — The government wants to borrow another $3½ billion to pay its mounting bills. To get the money, it's willing to double the interest it offered just seven weeks ago.

The rise in interest rates on government securities reflects a return to tighter money conditions — a move spurred by the federal reserve board in hopes of keeping inflationary pressures at bay.

Announce Terms
The treasury announced yesterday the terms on which it will borrow money needed to boost its supply of ready cash. The latest tabulation shows an operating cash balance of about $4 billion—less than a three weeks' supply.

Officials said they will need to raise still more money late in November or in December.

in these respects on a footing equal to the other states of the union. Education, on the other hand, has not been held legally to be a "civil or political right" but the grant of a privilege within the discretion of a state.

(Copyright, 1958)

They spoke in terms of perhaps another $3 billion. Over the full 1959 fiscal year which ends next June 30, the treasury will have to finance a predicted deficit of more than $12 billion.

On Monday the treasury will offer to the public:

1. About $1 billion of 13-month treasury notes, to be sold at par and carry interest of 3½ per cent.
2. About 2½ billions of 219-

General Increase
Some Wall street experts said they were surprised by what they called the generous terms offered by the government. They suggested the result would be a general increase in yields on short term securities.

Interest rates on comparable government issues reached a peak of 4 per cent in August, 1957. Rates later dropped sharply as the federal reserve system eased restraints on the money supply to fight the recession.

Polio Epidemic in Detroit Continues
Detroit — The polio epidemic continued unabated today as medical authorities in the area planned to open special clinics to administer special low-cost inoculations of Salk vaccine.

A total of 595 cases, many of them paralytic, have been reported this year in Detroit and surrounding Wayne county communities. This compares with 224 cases in the same period last year. Twelve deaths have resulted, compared with two a year ago.

In sections of the town they control, the Phalangists showed no signs of taking down their barriers. They were on strike today and a spokesman said the strike probably would continue through tomorrow.

The Phalangists bitterly oppose the Karami government and say they will not accept a "prime minister from behind the barricades."

Karami led the anti-Chamoun rebellion in Tripoli, in north Lebanon.

Roles Reversed
Today's developments dramatically pointed to a reversal of roles between the two factions and the two sectors of Beirut this week. Karami's appointment as premier pacified the Basta elements who were once the source of the hottest trouble in Beirut. The Phalangists — who have only recently been called loyalist — now become the opposition and on the verge of rebellion themselves.

It is because of the Phalangist strike that security forces are keeping Beirut under a day and night curfew. Informants close to the government said the day curfew would be lifted tomorrow but this was still unconfirmed.

Salam charged today that the British were inciting the Phalangists to make trouble in the hope that this would cause American troops to renege on their promise to withdraw from Lebanon.

Americans will withdraw, however," Salam said. "We hope they understand it is in their interest to go."

Meanwhile, an American military spokesman announced that 140 engineering troops have been flown from Lebanon to Germany — the first in the hope that this would since the landing. Three marine battalions have withdrawn.

Charge Probers Ignore Justice

FTC Commission Chairmen Levels Blast in Speech

Washington —(AP)—Chairmen John W. Gwynne of the federal trade commission today accused congressional investigators of ignoring principles of justice developed long ago by the courts.

In an address at the annual convention of the Federal Bar association, Gwynne, in effect hit back at two house subcommittees which recently accused the FTC of laxity in enforcing trade laws.

"The failure of congressional investigating committees to recognize and enforce the principles... makes it difficult for an agency on trial to get its side of the story to congress and the public," Gwynne said.

He added that the conduct of some committees "has a substantial influence on the independence" of the FTC and other regulatory agencies which, by law, are supposed to be free of outside pressure.

"Committee staffs are beginning to take on the appearance of courts of appeal," he said, and committees "tend to become rallying points for disgruntled litigants or their lawyers."

A house subcommittee investigating federal agencies accused the FTC of going easy on Northfield Mills owned by Bernard Goldfine, Boston millionaire and friend of Presidential Aide Sherman Adams. Gwynne and other commission witnesses denied any favoritism.

A house government operations subcommittee later contended the commission was not doing all that it should to crack down on deceptive advertising of diet drugs, tranquilizers and toothpaste.

'Duly Nominated' Candidates Get Approval of GOP

Resolution Substituted for One Which Endorsed Only Mark Catlin

A resolution voicing support of all "duly nominated" Republican candidates was passed unanimously by the Outagamie county Republican party executive committee Thursday night.

The resolution was a substitute for one which strongly endorsed Mark Catlin for the assembly and did not mention other GOP candidates.

Some Republicans are supporting an independent candidacy in the first assembly district race.

Catlin supporters outnumbered his foes something like 14 to 1, but the substitute resolution was adopted unanimously after heated debate in which some committee members showed concern lest party unity be further disrupted.

Only committee member speaking against the Catlin resolution was William S. Pfankuch, Appleton, announced supporter of Ald. Kenneth Priebe, Appleton, independent candidate.

Pfankuch promised he would vote against the resolution. That bothered some other committeemen, who wanted any vote on endorsement to be unanimous.

Pfankuch Abstains

When Talbot Peterson, Appleton, offered the substitute resolution, "to preserve party unity," for the one originally introduced by Henry Hackbarth, Appleton, Pfankuch said he would abstain from voting. He did, and the record shows the GOP executive committee unanimously in favor of all duly nominated Republican candidates.

The Catlin resolution also said in part "the Republican party of Outagamie county . . . does not countenance any disloyalty to party unity or any attempts by selfish interests to destroy the fundamentals of the basic 2-party system."

Some members declared the Priebe candidacy represents disloyalty to the party. Some of Priebe's backers are members of both the county GOP statutory and voluntary organizations. They have said Priebe's candidacy gives Republican voters who voted for candidates other than Catlin in the primary an opportunity to cast their general election ballots for an alternative candidate.

Denies Disloyalty

Pfankuch claimed publicity surrounding Catlin's suspension from law practice last year made him unpopular with the voters.

He denied charges of party disloyalty, claiming the county GOP had supported Catlin when he ran as an independent in 1950.

Pfankuch said he did not attend a meeting after the Sept. 9 primary at which Peterson claimed several Outagamie county Republicans, including defeated candidates Harold V. Froehlich and Chris Mullen, allegedly promised to throw their support to Francis H. "Dick" Zingsheim, the Democratic nominee. Zingsheim has said such a meeting was held and the dissident Republicans later threw their support to Priebe.

Froehlich and Mullen could not be reached for comment this morning.

"I have evidence that certain Republicans met with Zingsheim after the election to promise him their support," Peterson said.

"I will dedicate myself to seeing that the people involved are gotten out of the Outagamie county Republican party," he declared.

Bubolz Letter

During the debate, party secretary Thomas McKenzie read a letter from former State Sen. Gordon Bubolz, who has announced his support of Priebe, asking that the committee take no endorsement action.

In his letter, Bubolz said he was sorry that "an honest difference of opinion" had led to ill-will among GOP members.

McKenzie said the Catlin resolution would cause a split in Republican ranks.

"The bad publicity would hurt our congressional and senate candidates," he said.

"All our funds are supporting Catlin. What more is needed?" McKenzie asked.

"We're lucky our party is strong enough in Outagamie county to be able to afford a difference of opinion," said Chairman Urban Van Susteren, "but if this were a marginal area an independent candidate might assure election of a Democrat."

He called the Priebe backers "political malcontents."

Plan Report on City Budget Form

Bernard C. Sullivan, Madison, a member of the Public Expenditure Research staff, will analyze the city budget form when the Appleton Taxpayers association holds a 6 o'clock dinner Monday night at Stroebe's Island Haven.

The group also will hear committee reports and will vote on proposed by-laws.

Zephyrs to Battle Veteran Wausau '11'

Resume Action After Open Weekend; Newman Comes Here With Two Wins, Single Loss

Menasha — Having had two full practice weeks to brush up on fundamentals and iron out weaknesses detected in their first two games, the St. Mary's Zephyrs will swing back into action here Saturday night against Wausau Newman. Game time will be 8 p.m. at the Butte des Morts field.

The Zephyrs have been idle since grinding out a 26-13 win over East DePere on Sept. 12. They chalked up over 300 yards on the ground in notching their second straight triumph.

Newman comes here with a record of two victories in three starts. It opened with a 19-13 conquest of Fond du Lac Springs and then followed up with a victory over Lakeland of Minocqua.

Bow to Champion

The Cardinals stumbled last weekend and were trimmed 28-21 by Champion academy of Prairie du Chien. They are coached by Mike McMahon, who succeeds Jim Kurzynski. McMahon came to Wausau from a Minnesota school.

The Wausau lineup is a veteran one. Many of the boys saw action in last year's 6-0 loss to the Zephyrs. Only the two starting ends and a guard graduated. Don Brezinski, the top ground gainer for two years, also departed but he was injured when the clubs played a year ago and didn't suit up for the encounter.

Starters for Newman included Jerry Duginski and Jim Tomczek ends; Russ Heil and Bernie Gajewski, tackles; Ralph Ruchinski and Ron Klemisch guards; Jerry Cyr center, Ron Onopa quarterback; Tom Tranetzi fullback and Jim Koltes and Tom Polzer halfbacks.

Start Against Zephyrs

Entering the game on defense will be Russ Strevler, tackle; Bob Nezza and Richard Malak, backs and Jim Shopf, ends.

Heil, Gajewski, Ruchinski, Cyr, Onopa, Tranetzi and Malek started against the Zephyrs last fall and Klemisch and Tomczek saw reserve duty.

Tranetzi was on the receiving end of three Onopa passes for touchdowns against Champion last weekend.

Menasha's lineup is expected to include Joe Rechner and Bob VandenHeuvel at ends; Fran Voissem and Tom Makofski tackles; Dick Peterson and Dave Huhn, guards; George Wiegand, center; Gary Batley, quarterback; Ed Lotzer and Norm Brown, halfbacks, and Tom Balthazor, fullback.

6 Straight Games

Jerry Resch and Don Mislinski move into the line and George Walbrun takes over a backfield spot on defense.

Including Saturday's contest, the Zephyrs will be in action six straight weekends. They open Fox Valley Catholic conference competition a week from Sunday at Little Chute St. John and on successive weekends Fond du Lac Springs, St. Norbert, Stevens Point Pacelli and Marinette Catholic will be the opponents.

One FVCC Contest on Docket; Three Clubs Meet Non-Loop Foes

Menasha — One conference game and three non-league tests are on the docket for Fox Valley Catholic conference football squads this weekend.

The only league match sends Little Chute St. John to St. Norbert tonight. In the only league play thus far, St. Norbert and Fond du Lac Springs battled to a 6-6 tie.

Three non-league games are scheduled for Saturday. Marinette Catholic Central will be at Gladstone, Mich., for an afternoon affair while in evening contests St. Mary entertains Wausau Newman and Springs is host to St. John Military academy of Delafield.

Practice Session Planned Thursday; Open Action Oct. 9

Neenah — Eight teams had representatives at the initial meeting of the Neenah Municipal Dartball league Wednesday night at the Recreation building. The roster included five men's clubs and three women's entries.

League play will get underway at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday night with a practice session for all teams. Actual league competition will begin Oct. 9.

Men's and women's teams will be scheduled in one league with a split season of two rounds. The champs of each round will play off to determine the league titlist. Formerly, the men's and women's teams played each other but separate standings were kept.

Tentative plans call for postseason team and mixed doubles tournaments. The season culminates with a dinner and award night.

Awards are presented to the four or five top teams, four highest men's and women's batting averages and top men and women's teams.

New trophies to be presented for the first time this year include one for the best women's batting average and another for the top men's mark.

The permanent trophies are donated by Al Woeckner and Art Niles respectively.

The team entry fee is $10 and team rosters may include from six to 10 players. Persons interested in forming a team or joining one of the present clubs can do so by attending Thursday's practice session.

No league play is held on Thanksgiving, during the Christmas holidays or Holy Thursday. The circuit is sponsored by the Neenah Recreation department.

Hoosiers, NU Only Big 10 Underdogs League Faces Toughest Opening Slate in Years This Weekend

By the Associated Press

The Big Ten faces its toughest opening football schedule in years this weekend. However, the oddsmakers favor all Big Ten teams except two—Indiana and Northwestern.

The rebuilding Hoosiers will be 28-point underdogs at Notre Dame Saturday. They haven't beaten the Irish since 1950 and certainly don't figure to come close this season when coach Terry Brennan's squad is jelling into a national contender.

Northwestern, which failed to win a game last year, is an 8-point underdog in its home encounter with Washington State. The Cougars smashed Stanford, 40-6, last week with quarterback Bob Newman, the nation's total offense leader in 1957, hitting 13 State, whose Spartans are out of 19 passes, two for touchdowns, and scoring another by running.

Others Are Favored

Big Ten teams were favored the rest of the way, but many of them will have to pull out all stops.

Don Meredith, the country's No. 1 passer last year, will lead the spread formations of Southern Methodist against the Ohio State meat grinder, ranked first nationally. The game is on the Buckeyes' home ground and they are favored by 13 points. A year ago OSU was trimmed by Texas Christian in its opener then continued unabated to the Big Ten and Rose bowl crowns.

TCU, flexing after a 42-0 romp over Kansas, invades Iowa. The Hawkeyes, expected to flash one of their finest offenses behind the passing of Randy Duncan and a blend of power-speed running, have been made a touchdown choice.

California has lost four linesmen through injuries and defensive lapses were glaring in the Bears dropped a 24-0 decision to College of Pacific. They are at Michigan State, whose Spartans are ready to challenge for the Big Ten title. MSU is a solid 21-point favorite.

Only one sophomore, 240-pound tackle Don Deskins, will be in Michigan's starting lineup against Southern California in Ann Arbor. The Trojans' sharp backs and huge line hinged to 230-pound tackle Dan Ficca wrecked Oregon State's Pacific Coast conference champions, 21-0. Still, the Wolverines are listed a 10-point choice.

Entertains Nebraska

Purdue, whose chance of winning the Big Ten is deflated only by the toughest conference schedule of them all, will entertain sophomore-cogged Nebraska. The Huskers are inspired after a 147-upset of Penn State, but they are a 20-point underdog against Purdue.

Illinois is favored by seven points to spoil the visit of UCLA's Bruins, who were thumped, 27-6, by Pitt, and Minnesota is a touchdown choice at Washington, whose Huskies were pressed in defeating San Jose State, 14-6.

Getting a head start in the Big Ten are the Wisconsin Badgers who are a touchdown bet tonight over the University of Miami.

The first meeting between the two schools will draw a record opening night crowd of about 56,000 in the Orange bowl.

Step into Spotlight

Many of the other big boys, nationally, step into the spotlight this weekend.

Oklahoma, the nation's second-ranked team, takes on a toughie at home in West Virginia, thirteenth-ranked. Defending national champion Auburn (No. 3) plays Tennessee in the national television game, winning 13 times against three defeats.

Temporary Manager Jimmy Dykes was unsure of his battle for the Lambert trophy, starter. It could be Bob Purkey, 17-11, or former University of Wisconsin star Jim South Carolina.

In the south, Mississippi's importance of the game (No. 9) takes on Kentucky, in the standing, Purkey was 2-0 and unscored on, at Memphis. Navy begins its season against William and Mary, socalation in almost everything while eleventh-ranked Mississippi this year, most victories, 20; sippi State plays eighteenth-best earned run average, 2.44; rated Florida (1-0).

most strikeouts, 189; most innings pitched, 280, and most walks, 132.

Burdette Bids For 20th Win

Braves Face Cincy In Opener of Final '58 Series

Milwaukee — (AP) — Right-hander Lew Burdette, who has never won 20 games in a regular season, will try for the coveted number tonight as the Milwaukee Braves engage the Cincinnati Redlegs.

With the Braves in as National league champions, the game—the opener of the season's final series—will center on Burdette's bid and the resistance of the Redlegs who retain a mathematical chance for third.

Burdette did post 20 victories in 1957, but three of those triumphs were in the World series and did not count in his season total of 17-9.

Matches '56 Mark

Tonight he'll take into the cage a 19-10 record which matches his season high post-1956. Off to a slow start this year, Burdette has been tremendous since the All-Star game, winning 13 times against three defeats.

Temporary Manager Jimmy Dykes was unsure of his starter. It could be Bob Purkey, 17-11, or former University of Wisconsin star Jim South Carolina.

Denmark Tips Shiocton '11'

Chiefs' Schwandt Passes for 200 Yards in 18-13 Loss

Shiocton — Playing in his first varsity game, Shiocton quarterback Barry Schwandt passed for 200 yards and two touchdowns here Thursday night but the Chiefs lost to Denmark, 18-13.

Halfback Keith Larson scored all three Denmark tallies on a 35-yard pass and run play in the first quarter, a 34-yard line buck in the second and a 2-yard plunge in the third period.

Schwandt fired 15 yards to Myron Kruzicki in the second segment and 30 yards to Dick Conrad in the third period for the two Shiocton tallies. The Chiefs' Bob Brownson skirted right end for the game's lone extra point.

Schwandt completed nine of 19 passes to help the losers pile up total yardage of 235 to Denmark's 201 (141 rushing). The loss was Shiocton's third straight in the Little Nine. Denmark is now 1-2.

Kaukauna Distance Runners Defeat Appleton, Shawano

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna High school cross country runners won their second meet in as many attempts Thursday afternoon, scoring 31 points compared to 48 for Shawano and 53 for Appleton over the Fox Valley Golf club course.

The winners failed to place a man in the first three but dominated the balance of the meet sufficiently to get honors. Since a new course was laid out, no records were figured in this week's meet.

Don Loker of Appleton finished first in 10 minutes, 48 seconds, followed by Phil Timm of Shawano in 11 minutes, 6 seconds. Dave Strehmel of Appleton finished third in 11 minutes, 7 seconds. Ripon Visits Coe Saturday

Both Midwest '11's Sport Win Skeins; Knights Play Oles

For the second straight weekend principal attention in the Midwest conference will be centered upon Ripon's defending champion Redmen Saturday.

After smashing St. Olaf, 40-7, in a game that was expected to be much closer, the Redmen visit strong Coe this Saturday. The Kohawks lost to Ripon by a slim 7-6 margin in '57.

Coe had a battle on its hands last Saturday before tripping Lawrence, 14-6.

Both clubs lay winning streaks on the line. Coe has captured six in a row over two seasons while the Redmen will be seeking their eleventh consecutive win. Paced by quarterback Kurt Duecker and Menasha halfback Bob Osiewalski, Ripon was scoring 40 or more points for the fourth straight game Saturday.

The traditional Carleton-St. Olaf intra-city battle in Northfield, Minn. (at St. Olaf) has the Knights heavily favored. Lawrence is at Grinnell and Cornell at Monmouth in other affairs.

Yankees Have Better Reserves Than Braves

New York — (AP) — Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees can knock on wood. He has a strong bench.

The Yankee reserves are the best in the business—considerably better than Milwaukee's in ability and versatility.

Always a master maneuverer, Stengel outdid himself this season. He's made a full-time shortstop of Tony Kubek, an outfielder of Yogi Berra, a third baseman of second sacker Bobby Richardson while rushing in his pinch hitters and pinch runners with the usual abandon.

Fred Haney of the Braves has come up with some effective switches of his own. For instance, he moved first baseman Joe Adcock to left field and second baseman Felix Mantilla to center on several occasions.

Time Out with Mike Drew

Lawrence college football on a bulletin board in the Vike teammates of sophomore end dressing room to indicate to his players that playing college football is a privilege.

Appleton native Johnny "Jack" Ahrens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ahrens, 319 S. Benoit street, finished the season the winningest pitcher in the Class D Sophomore league.

Ahrens, a 6-2; 185-pound righthander rang up an 18-1 record for Hobbs—St. Louis Cardinal farm — although Hobbs played under .500 ball. Jack plans to stay in the New Mexico community this winter but hopes to be able to come to Appleton for a visit at Christmas. Ahrens and his wife have a daughter, just under a year old.

One of Ahrens' best games was an 8-0 3-hit shutout over Plainview. Though the game was just a 7-inning affair, Jack slapped two homers and a punt for 3-for-3.

Ahrens pitched a good deal of amateur ball in the Fox Cities area before going into the army for two years.

A big pain in the neck for generations of Lawrence college athletes has been erased with the purchase, by the college, of a used school bus which is being used to transfer students from Alexander gymnasium to the main campus, and back.

The shuttle service runs every half hour, serving men's and women's physical education classes during the day as well as interscholastic athletic teams. The bus is blue with "Lawrence" printed in white on the side.

Before the installation of the shuttle service, Vike athletes often had to race, on foot, back to campus dining halls, in rain or snow, so as to be on time for supper. The long trip back, after lengthy practice sessions will not be missed.

Asked what differences he noted between high school and college ball after his first game with Lawrence latter Saturday, Vike quarterback Jim Schulze replied that "college defensive players seem a lot smarter. They don't get fooled as easily."

Schulze, former Appleton High all-stater, said that Coe players didn't hit any harder than did Green Bay West's Wildcats in a big game in Jim's senior year at AHS.

Former Terror basketball star Jack Ullwelling is rooming with former Green Bay East ace Tom Hughbanks in Adams hall, a University of Wisconsin dormitory.

Ullwelling reports that there are a couple of 6-foot, 7-inch cage prospects among the Badger frosh but that both are extremely thin — weighing around 170-180 pounds.

In a conversation I had with the father of "Hub" King, a great Fond du Lac professional baseball prospect, Mr. King said that he's been informed that a return by the major leagues to their previous strict bonus rules could be circumvented by paying the bonus against all types of pitching money as salary. "Hub's" deal the last couple of months. Butcision to play high school football Stengel may choose to replace ball this fall was made while him with Howard against his dad — who opposed the southpaw Warren Spain. move—was out of town.

American designers, noting Sceptre's chesty hull compared with the knife-edge prow of American 12-meter yachts, had said, "If they're right we're wrong."

The Columbia made hasty repairs this morning. One of the 19 strands in a jib stay became frayed in Thursday's race and the entire stay was replaced. If this had not been detected and the stay had broken during the race, the American boat would have been at a severe disadvantage.

SSAC Gridders Will Play Two Here Tonight

The South Side Athletic club football squad will play two games tonight against St. Patrick, of Menasha on the SSAC field.

The "B" teams will play at 6:30, and the "A" teams at 7:30.

The SSAC squad, coached by Roger Van Dinter and Ken Jensen, is made up of sixth, seventh and eighth graders from the Sacred Heart and Madisor schools. The team plays an independent schedule.

an even choice. Coach Bob Root's Raiders nipped always-dangerous Kaukauna, 14-13, and led Green Bay West for most of the way before bowing, 22-14.

Second-Half Blast All of the recent Raider-Terror battles have been close. They played a 7-7 tie in '55; AHS won, 32-20, with a second-half blast in '56; and the Terrors won, 14-10, last year.

North has a minute offensive edge, with a 2 - game yardage total of 316, compared to AHS' 311. AHS has a composite defensive bulge — 283 yards to 404.

Before losing to Fondy, AHS won a 12-0 non-conference decision at Menasha.

The Terrors may be a bit below par physically Saturday since. It's questionable whether recent injury victims Bob Roemer, John Nussbaum, Bob Thomas and Tom Kotke can play full games — although all will be available.

And, co-captain Joe Eich continues to hobble somewhat on a bum knee, which will again restrict him to defensive chores.

John Taylor, a junior like Nussbaum, will share the quarterbacking duties if the latter needs relief. And, Dave LaViolette is ready to spell Roemer at left half.

The speedy Roemer, who is also a crack defensive player, saw little offensive service (carried three times) against Fondy because of an ankle sprain.

Rounding out the AHS starting backfield will be Mike Franzke, a long-gain threat, at right half; and the hard-running Bob Henning, at full.

Thomas, a 2-way regular in the line, should be ready to start. But, Tom Quella and Jim Manier are also prepared for action at his spot.

Seeks More Charge Ron Finger is set to back up Kotke in the "snapping" department.

Dillon has worked all week to develop more charge in the defensive line which was pushed around more than a little at Fond du Lac Eddie Felauer, a 225-pound sophomore, has improved sufficiently to earn his first starting chance on defense.

North touchdowns against Kaukauna were scored by Jerry Hummitch and Jim Zabel. Drop-kicker Dave Back made the two conversions in the non-loop win and also posted a perfect 2 - for - 2 against West.

Hummitch and Dan Weiskopf scored Raider TDs against West.

North, which led West, 14-0, at the half and had the decision all but wired at 14-6 with less than five minutes left, went to pieces thereafter.

West blocked a kick for a safety to make it 14-8. The Wildcats then drove 43 yards for the tying TD and the winning conversion. An interception in the final minute produced the "extra" touchdown.

Defensive alertness set up both North's scores. Among other North standouts are backs Pete Jung and Jim Schmitt and end Bernie Lemkuil.

St. Therese Giants, Lion Post Victories

Bill Ullweiling passed for three touchdowns and ran for another as the St. Therese Giants dumped the Wilson TD Ten, 47-0, in the Appleton Recreation department Seventh and Eighth Grade touch football league over the weekend.

Neenah — A touchdown with about four minutes left to play gave Neenah a 6-0 win over Roosevelt Junior High school of Appleton in their Valley Freshman league football opener here Thursday afternoon.

The Rockets climaxed an 80-yard march with a 6-yard scoring run by left halfback Winn Zimmerman. The latter took a pitchout from quarterback Steve Hildebrand, dropped the ball, picked it up and skirted his right end to score. Dick Dietrich's conversion attempt failed.

It took the Rockets 17 plays to cover the 80 yards. Roosevelt only threatened once when tailback Dave Emrich broke away from his 16 to the Neenah 18 in the third period. He was brought down from behind by Begon.

Polman Tallies Twice Kimberly scored the first two times it had its hands on the ball and posted a 19-13 win over Menasha in a Fox River Valley Freshman league opener Thursday.

Left half Ricky Polman scored twice for Kimberly, kicked one extra point and had another touchdown, on a 23-yard run, called back.

Polman opened the scoring in the first quarter when he counted on an 11-yard end run. Kimberly scored again late in the first quarter when fullback Carl Helms blasted 31-yards.

Menasha got into the scoring column in the fourth quarter when Ted Cook, right half, went over from the 3-yard line after a long march.

Polman scored again for Kimberly on the next series, going in from the 13.

With a minute left, Cook counted his second TD for Menasha, plowing over from the one. He ran for the extra point.

Ghosts Win, 20-15 Fullback Bill Jirikowicz gained 59 yards in eight straight fourth quarter carries to score the winning touchdown as Kaukauna nipped Wilson, 20-15, in an exciting Fox Valley Freshman league football opener Thursday at Wilson.

The Ghosts grabbed a 7-0 first quarter lead on halfback Harry Wheelock's 50 - yard scamper around right end and Jirikowicz's plunge for the extra point. They scored next on a 55-yard trot by Wheelock in the second stanza for a 13-0 lead.

Wilson quarterback Dick Harder fired a 30-yard pass to halfback Tom Wenneman, and Wenneman ran for the extra point later in the period. The losers tied the score at 13-13 early in the third stanza when right half Bob Paessler blasted 65 yards through the middle.

Right end Dale Stabe nailed a Ghost runner in the end zone for a safety which made the score 15-13 later in the frame.

Then, in the fourth segment, Jirikowicz went on his rampage for the TD and counted the extra point, too. Paessler gained 119 yards in seven carries for Wilson.

Wilson's only JV conference victory. The Indian jayvees rocked East, 19-0.

The AHS jayvees, who are defending a co-championship, outgained Fondy last Saturday but got no closer to scoring than the foe's 26.

caught a pair of TD passes from Kranzsch and ran 10 yards for the third tally. The St. Therese Colts won a forfeit decision over the St. Paul Reds in the other game.

West De Pere — St. Norbert college will be one of more than 300 institutions of higher learning in the nation to cooperate in an experiment to teach science by means of television.

The Very Rev. D. M. Burke, O. Praem., college president, said today St. Norbert would offer credit in college physics to science teachers, students at the college, and certain gifted high school students who meet requirements for participating in a nationally televised course.

The program — which will be televised over the National Broadcasting company and released locally will supplant the lecture portion of the physics course and, for students not working toward degrees in chemistry or physics, may constitute part of their science requirement.

The course will be conducted by Dr. Harvey E. White, professor and vice chairman of the department of physics, University of California, and by other internationally known scientists.

Man Jailed on Traffic Charge

Rodney Nitzband Admits Driving After Revocation

Rodney M. Nitzband, 26, 1129 West avenue, was fined $75 and sentenced to 20 days in the county jail this morning in municipal court after he pleaded guilty of driving after his license was revoked.

He was arrested Thursday by city police. His license was revoked in 1956 after he was involved in two accidents. The revocation was extended a year in 1957 for driving after revocation, and will be extended another year now.

Ralph J. Strong, 19, Maple street, Hortonville, was fined $75 or 30 days in jail for hit and run driving. He was arrested after his car struck the rear of a car driven by Janice A. Retzlaff, 19, Fremont, Saturday in Dale.

Police said both cars were going east on Highway 10 when Miss Retzlaff slowed for a left turn. After striking her car, Strong's vehicle went into the ditch and came back out and kept going. Strong's license was revoked until he shows the court he has paid for the damage to the Retzlaff car. Six points will be assessed against his license.

Other Traffic Cases
Other cases were: Christian W. Zoellner, 46, Fond du Lac, illegal passing, forfeited $28.95.

Henry Steger and Edward Corrigan, both of Green Bay, both fined $10 for parking on the highway.

James W. Ahrens, 19, 525 S. Weimar street, speeding, fined $10, three points.

Why I Work for Red Feather...

This is another in a series of articles written by volunteer workers in the 1958 Community Fund drive. Each person tells why he volunteered to work in the $136,132 campaign. Mrs. Charles Dostal, 500 N. Vine street, clubs and organizations chairman, speaks here.

I am fulfilling two purposes by working for the Appleton Community fund. I am convinced that all eight agencies are doing a wonderful job, but I am particularly interested in the Children's Service Society and can best serve them, by working on the

By serving on the board I am deeply aware of the needs, the wants and the problems of the people served by the agencies and I know of some of the tremendous things that are being done to help. I don't mind asking people for money because I know it is needed and where and why.

Children Need Permit
Parents of school children were reminded today they must obtain a permit from the city health department before the children may re-enter school after recovering from a communicable disease.
